

Example: Pantex

Pantex solved testing its response to a nuclear weapons accident by developing a hypothetical weapon. The hypothetical weapon had a design, explosive and radiological component for source term, and other technical characteristics that allow consequence assessment. This hypothetical weapon was reviewed by classification for public release.